The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was a warm, humid breeze.
The air was thick with the scent of mangoes and the distant call of a parrot. The sun was high in the sky, casting long shadows on the cobblestone streets. I walked slowly, taking in the sights and sounds of this new place. The people were friendly, smiling and waving. I felt a sense of peace and belonging. This was my new home.

1870. The first of the year was a very cold one, and the winter was unusually long and severe. The snow lay on the ground for many weeks, and the ice was very thick. The frost was very hard, and the wind was very strong. The people were very much distressed, and many of them died of the cold. The government was very kind, and gave them money to buy food and clothing. The people were very grateful, and they all lived happily ever after.
